FAQ

1) Who is the tournament registration open to?

The tournament registration is open to all LOCAL MARTIAL ARTISTS and INTERNATIONAL KYOKUSHIN practitioners.

2) I'm an international but not practicing Kyokushin, can I still join?

Unfortunately no, as registration is open to INTERNATIONAL KYOKUSHIN practitioners.

3) I'm an international studying/working in Malaysia, which category do I fall under?

The category you will fall under is international. You will represent your country, you must be a Kyokushin member and must represent an organization to participate.

4) What do you mean by "Bare Knuckle Tournament"?

It means competitors will not be wearing protective equipment besides a groin guard (Men mandatory) and chest guard (Women mandatory) with / without a mouthguard. Competitors will fight by Kyokushin rules with no pulled strikes.

5) Will children not be wearing protective equipments?

The previous question only applies to adults. Children will be wearing protective equipments (head guard, gloves, arm guard, groin guard and shin guard) when they compete.

6) When is the registration deadline?

The registration deadline will be on the 30th August 2015.

Rules and Regulations (Adults)

1. As of the nature of this tournament is bare knuckle, there will be no protective equipments to be worn during each bout except for groin guard (mandatory), chest guard (women only, mandatory) and mouthguard (optional, at your own risk).
2. Participants of their own discipline to wear their respective uniforms to represent their own martial art discipline. If the participant's discipline does not have an upper attire, it is mandatory to wear a shirt.
3. The organizing committee reserves the right to merge categories if the number of participants in a category does not reach a satisfactory number.
4. In elimination competitions (yosen) the base time of bout (honsen) is 2 minutes. In case of tie the extension time (enchosen) equal to 2 minutes shall be assigned. If the tie repeats, the weighing shall be announced, and the competitor inferior to the opponent in weight shall be declared the winner. Finals bout for the Adult category is 3 minutes.
5. Taking into account the number of competitors and conditions of holding the competitions, competition organizers may shorten or extend the base time of bout (honsen).
6. Timing of bout shall begin from the moment of the referee's command «Hajime!» («Begin!»). The duration of bout is measured by the timekeeper (tokeigakari), who is a member of the Executive Committee of the Championship. Even if a competitor loses his consciousness during the bout, or the bout stops for any other reason, the timekeeper may not stop measuring the duration of bout by his own decision without a relevant signal from the referee.

Rules Violations

1. The following shall be considered as the Rule violations:

- a) Punches, hands and elbow strikes to the face. In some cases even finger touches to the face may be considered as the violation. However the imitation of strikes to the face is allowed;
- b) Punches, hands and elbow strikes to the throat, sides or back of the neck;
- c) Strikes to the groin;
- e) Attacking fallen opponent;
- f) Strikes to the spine;
- g) Attacks from the position with head set to opponent;
- h) Hooking (Grabbing) the opponent's neck, head and shoulder.
- i) Grasping/Grabbing/Holding opponent's uniform, hands or legs;

- j) Pushes (oshi) to the body and shoulders with palms, forearms or fists;
- k) Attacks of knee joints.

AWARDING CLEAR VICTORY (IPPON GACHI)

1. Clear victory (ippon gachi) shall be declared for an effective fist or elbow strike or a kick delivered to any body zone allowed by the Rules, which brought the opponent to the floor and put him into knockdown lasting more than 3 seconds, or which became the reason why the opponent lost his desire to continue fighting for more than 3 seconds.

AWARDING HALF POINT (WAZA ARI)

1. For a fist or elbow strike, or a kick delivered to any body zone allowed by the Rules, which brought the opponent to the floor and put him into knock down, if the opponent stood up less than in 3 seconds after the strike or for a strike, after which the opponent kept standing but temporarily lost his desire for fighting or lost balance;

2. For the timely, clear and technically correct marking (without actual contact) of the final strike by straight downward fist punch (gedanzuki) to the opponent knocked down to the floor, for example, by leg sweep (ashikake). The final straight downward fist strike (gedanzuki) shall be delivered with clear fixation of the fist in final position of the punch, so that judges could assure themselves, that the strike was accurate. The final fist strike with quick pulling the striking hand back (hikite), which does not allow judges to be assured that the strike was accurate, cannot be counted.

3. For the timely, clear and technically correct marking (without actual contact) of the final strike by straight downward fist punch (gedanzuki) to the opponent who tried to deliver a kick with deliberate fall (sutemiwaza). In this case the requirements to the gedanzuki are the same, as in subpoint 2;

4. Two half points (waza ari) give in total the clear victory (awasete ippon gachi).

PENALTY POINT (GENTEN)

1. The first penalty point (genten ichi) shall be given in the following cases:

- a) if a competitor receives the second rebuke (chui ni);
- b) in case of especially serious violation of the Rules;
- c) if the referee regards behavior of a competitor during the bout as disrespectful to the opponent or to the judges; the competitor shall be liable for the same acts of his seconds;
- d) the penalty point (genten) correlates with the half point (wazaari) in this way: penalty point (genten) + the rebuke (chui) = the half point (wazaari).

2. If a competitor receives the second penalty point (genten ni), it shall entail his disqualification (shikkaku).

DISQUALIFICATION (SHIKKAKU)

1. A competitor's disqualification shall be announced in following cases:

- a) if a competitor receives the second penalty point (awasete genten ni);
- b) if a competitor fails to obey orders of the judges during a bout;
- c) in case of rude and disrespectful behavior or especially gross violation of the Rules;
- d) in case of demonstration of exultation (victory celebration pose) after declaration of victory by the decision of the judges (hantei gachi), by the clear victory (ippon gachi) or of awarding to him of the half point (wazaari), that can be considered as the breach of etiquette or demonstration of disrespect to the opponent;
- e) if a competitor comes to the competition area for a bout more than 1 minute later than the time or does not enter to it at all;
- f) in case if a competitor's weight exceeds the limit set for his weight category.

CONSTANT VIGILANCE (ZANSHIN)

1. Having heard whistle of a corner judge pointing to the rule violation (hansoku) or to the exit from the competition area (jogai), the competitor has in no circumstances the right to make by himself / herself decision to stop fighting and relax, losing vigilance.

2. Bout competitor must always obey the referee's commands.

3. Bout competitor has to maintain vigilance even after the referee's «Yame!» («Stop!») command. If a competitor loses vigilance (zanshin), allows delivering him a strike and is knocked out, the judges may decide to admit his clear defeat (ippon make).

4. If a bout competitor delivered a strike to his opponent after the referee's «Yame!» («Stop!») command, in case his opponent preserved the capability to continue fighting, depending on the damage caused to him, the competitor may be punished with disqualification (shikkaku), the penalty point (genten), the rebuke (chui) or an oral warning (keikoku):

- a) in case a competitor, having received a strike, was knocked down, got a serious injury, which became the reason for brief loss of consciousness by him, or got an injury, which could influence the further development of bout, even if he raised to his feet, the

- competitor, who delivered the strike, is disqualified (shikkaku);
- b) in case a competitor, having received a strike, was knocked down, but did not lose consciousness, got a light injury, or only temporarily lost his ability to move, the competitor, who delivered the strike, is given the penalty point (genten);
- c) in case a competitor received a strike, but did not get serious injury, the competitor, who delivered the strike, is given the rebuke (chui);
- d) in case the strike missed the target, the competitor, who delivered the strike, is given an oral warning (keikoku).

ARBITRATION

1. If a participant finds a decision or result unfair or unsatisfactory, they may call for a dispute. However, the decision made by the judges after a dispute has been called is final and will not be discussed further. A participant may only call 1 dispute per bout.
2. The fee for each dispute is USD50.

2. Bout competitor must always obey the referee's commands.
3. Bout competitor has to maintain vigilance even after the referee's «Yame!» («Stop!») command. If a competitor loses vigilance (zanshin), allows delivering him a strike and is knocked out, the judges may decide to admit his clear defeat (ippon make).
4. If a bout competitor delivered a strike to his opponent after the referee's «Yame!» («Stop!») command, in case his opponent preserved the capability to continue fighting, depending on the damage caused to him, the competitor may be punished with disqualification (shikkaku), the penalty point (genten), the rebuke (chui) or an oral warning (keikoku):
 - a) in case a competitor, having received a strike, was knocked down, got a serious injury, which became the reason for brief loss of consciousness by him, or got an injury, which could influence the further development of bout, even if he raised to his feet, the competitor, who delivered the strike, is disqualified (shikkaku);
 - b) in case a competitor, having received a strike, was knocked down, but did not lose consciousness, got a light injury, or only temporarily lost his ability to move, the competitor, who delivered the strike, is given the penalty point (genten);
 - c) in case a competitor received a strike, but did not get serious injury, the competitor, who delivered the strike, is given the rebuke (chui);
 - d) in case the strike missed the target, the competitor, who delivered the strike, is given an oral warning (keikoku).
